Political Alert in Vietnam

By BARRY KRAMER
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's military junta ordered a police and troop alert today after the Provisional Assembly's election committee refused to certify the military presidential ticket headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu. The alert was canceled after two and a half hours.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky is Thieu's vice presidential running mate in the Sept. 3 elections.

The committee's action threw the military ticket to the full assembly, which was expected to give the Thieu-Ky candidacy the green light. Candidates must have the assembly's approval to run, and the Thieu-Ky camp is thought to have 84 of the 117 votes in the assembly.

The military-police alert appeared to be a warning to the assembly that should it try to block the military ticket, the junta might halt the process toward an elected government.

The election committee was reported irked because neither Thieu nor Ky appeared before it Monday night to answer complaints against their candidacy. The committee's vote against recommending the ticket was 8-4.

The two military leaders, who are considered likely to win, have been accused of violating an election law that says candidates in the armed forces or civil service must take leaves of absence two months before the election. Both men have taken leaves from their military posts but claim their positions as chief of state and premier are not civil service posts.

The committee also recommended that four other tickets not be allowed to run, saying there was substance to charges made against them.

The committee also voted against the candidacy of Gen. Duong Van Minh, better known as "Big Minh." Minh headed the ruling junta for several months after the fall of President Ngo Dinh Diem in November 1963 and is now living in exile in Thailand after losing a military power struggle. The ruling generals have refused to let him return to campaign, fearing that his popularity would split the vote Thieu and Ky expect to get.

ROBERT L. SCHELL, District Governor, Lions 7-K

Robert L. Schell, District Governor of District 7-K, Arkansas Lions International, whose home is Bauxite, spoke to the Hope Lions Club Monday at the Town and Country on his plans and goals for the year and also installed the new officers of the Hope club for the coming year.

Mr. Schell had just returned from a school for District Governors at the Sherman House in Chicago. He told the club that there were 480 district governors throughout the world and over 430 were present. Worldwide, there are 832,000 Lions. In Arkansas, there are about 170 clubs with an average of 40 men to the club. In District 7-K, there are 37 clubs with approximately 1450 members.

Mr. Schell hopes for 6 new clubs in his district this year. He outlined plans for emphasis on interclub visitation, attendance and new members. He cited the need for increased financial support of the Blind Center at Little Rock where 75 trainees are enrolled and 40 to 50

Board Asks Dismissal of School Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Federal District Judge Gordon E. Young was asked Monday to dismiss a suit filed June 28 by the Arkansas (Negro) Teachers Association on behalf of the 28 Negro teachers at England (Lonoke County).

The England School Board contended in a motion filed by Atty. J. Ross Smith of Little Rock that none of the Negro teachers was named in the suit as a plaintiff and that the ATA could not sue by itself on their behalf.

The board said federal court rules require every action to be brought "in the name of the real party in interest" and that the ATA was not the real party in interest in this case.

The board also alleged that the ATA didn't have the authority to maintain the suit as a class action, because the court rules required class actions to be brought by a member of the group in whose interest the relief is sought.

The ATA, a professional organization that represents the Negro teachers in the state, asked in its suit that the board be required to pay its Negro teachers on the same salary schedule as its white teachers. It said the Negro teachers were paid an average of $998 a year less than white teachers during the 1966-67 school year.

It has been estimated that about one per cent of the general population of the United States has undetected diabetes.

This Was No Horseless Carriage

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic policeman Raymond Egan did a double take when he spotted a red convertible on the Kennedy Expressway with a full-grown Shetland pony standing in the rear.

He did another double take after he ordered the car off the road Monday and discovered, where the back seat should have been, a pile of hay and two small children playing at the pony's feet.

He recovered sufficiently to charge Victor Garaze, 25, with driving without a driver's license, driving without a city sticker, illegally using license plates and driving with the view obstructed.

The red convertible was impounded. Garaze, children and pony left the Albany Park police station hoofing it.

Rails Get Into Action With Speed

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's strike-sharpened railroads prepared to speed vital cargoes for war and peace on their way again today after picket lines started crumbling under a federal back-to-work law.

"This will enable the products of our farms and factories to move freely once more," said President Johnson in signing the law Congress hastily passed Monday to end the first nationwide rail walkout in 20 years.

"It will permit vitally needed arms and supplies to be sent to our fighting forces in Vietnam — without interruption," Johnson said.

It also requires a government-imposed settlement of the wage dispute if unions and management don't reach their own agreement within 90 days.

A union leader angrily called the law "the strike-breaking act of 1967" but members of six shopcraft unions began obeying it by returning to work a little more than 48 hours after the strike began.

Union Pacific and Great Northern railroad officials said pickets were withdrawn, and a union official said strikers were ready to return to their jobs on the Burlington Railroad.

But pickets remained in many cities, where strikers said they were awaiting official word from their union chiefs before going back to their jobs.

Machinists' official J.A. Nesbitt of Pine Bluff, Ark., said it would take a federal court order to get his men back to work.

Even where a quick return to work was expected, railroad officials weren't sure they could get commuter trains running in time for the morning rush of passengers.

The law forbids resumption of any strike for the 90 days in which a White House board will seek a voluntary settlement, and the board could extend this as late as Jan. 1, 1969, by invoking the compulsory settlement provision. The board could also impose a mandatory settlement for a shorter period.

Some 137,000 machinists, electricians, boiler makers, carmen and firemen and others seek wage hikes of 6.5 per cent this year and 5 per cent next year, plus 12.5 cents per hour each year for higher skilled men.

They now average $2.94 per hour, with skilled men getting an average $3.05.

Sharp Clash on Newspaper Enactment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jack R. Howard, president of Scripps-Howard Newspapers, said today an antitrust exemption for merger or joint operation of financially failing papers "is vital to the health of the newspaper business."

A publisher from Chattanooga, Tenn., and a professor from Southern Illinois University challenged that view.

They spoke in testimony prepared for the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee.

It is considering legislation to permit the merger or joint commercial operation of newspapers when one of the publications is classified as failing.

Roy McDonald, president and publisher of the Chattanooga News-Free Press, said no matter what name is applied to a joint newspaper operating arrangement, "it is still a monopoly and at this time, no competing media can replace it."

Bryce W. Rucker, a professor of journalism, said, "I fervently hope you will not arm powerful, wealthy men with this weapon with which they may drive the remaining independent publishers to the wall and take over their newspapers. Those giant publishers do not need your help. The small ones do."

Hanoi Won't Say a Word, Notes Rusk

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk says, "If we could get any response from Hanoi there would be peace" in Vietnam.

"We are not asking North Vietnam to surrender a single acre of ground," Rusk told a n International Longshoremen's Association Convention Monday.

"All we are asking them to do is stop shooting at Laos and South Vietnam for the purpose of taking over these countries by force."

"We are prepared to move for peace at any time that we can find anyone from Hanoi to talk about peace. But no one has yet been able to produce a North Vietnamese anywhere with whom we can talk peace."

Rusk suggested: "Let us reduce the violence by mutual action. Let us demilitarize the demilitarized zone. Let us stop the fighting in Laos and stop the infiltration through Laos."

CHATTER

By: BILL

As you very well know, we do not have sales every whip-stitch. But at the close of the season, or as we begin to get ready to go into a new season, we always clear our stock.

This we are doing now. The inventory has just been finished and starting Monday morning we are inviting you to the sale. You will find fresh, clean, attractive merchandise, all our regular stock . . . all on sale at 1/2 price. There are about a dozen spring suits that would be nice for Fall or travel. If you happen to be going where it is cool, you could use them now and they would be excellent for later wear. A few costumes, things that were rather expensive to begin with and now that they are reduced, they should go out the very first thing. The garments are all plainly marked and you know exactly how much you are saving. Which always reminds us of one of our customers (we won't mention her name because it might embarrass her) but she always says . . . "Never mind how much it is . . . or how much it was . . . just tell me how much I am saving, so I can tell HIM." The wonderful logic of women!

You will also like the sale rack of dresses, mostly one-of-a-kind, all from nationally known manufacturers with the labels still in . . . we just aren't supposed to mention the names in this ad, but you will know. It is July "saling" time and we invite you to paddle your boat right down to Raley's.

While you are there look at all the new transition dresses. They are beautiful. We will be looking for you at

SHOVER SPRINGS HD CLUB MEETS

Mrs. Mary Dillon was hostess for a meeting of the Shover Springs Extension Homemakers Club on June 14 when it met at the Community Building. "The Lord's Prayer" was the theme of the devotion brought by the hostess.

For the eyeopener Mrs. Dillon showed how to make a lint mitten, and she taught the lesson, "Tune Up Your Muscles." Mrs. Bob Dillard gave a leader's report on measles.

Extension Home Economist Dolores McBride showed the club members interesting slides on redecorating the home. Mrs. Homer Polindexter read the minutes, and in the drawing for the door prize, Mrs. Floyd Mangum was the winner. In conclusion Mrs. Bob Dillard led the group in repeating the club creed.

Cookies and cold drinks were served to 6 members, 7 children, and Miss McBride. The next meeting will be an ice cream supper for club members from Shover Springs and their families on August 11 at the Community Building.

Television and Radio

Editor's note — Agnes Moorehead, who seems to relish playing a witchy mother-in-law in ABC's "Bewitched," has a rich and varied active background that includes being a founder and charter member of the legendary Mercury Theater Players of Broadway in the 1930s and one of the distinguished quartet — the others were Charles Laughton, Charles Boyer and Sir Cedric Hardwicke — who presented a concert recital of Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell." Here she puts comedy aside to appeal for a worthy cause.

By AGNES MOOREHEAD
For Cynthia Lowry
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Acting is too often looked upon as a "gifted art." This may be, but having the gift is only the beginning. It must be honed, developed by training and experience.

In the profession today we have many stars with talent who lack the discipline and dedication that come with training. The Mercury Theater Players in the '30s and '40s was a group of actors that practiced both. We wanted to learn, to experiment, to contribute to entertainment. To us study was the very important first step in any performance.

This is just as important today. You can't walk onto a set or stage not knowing your lines and how you are going to play them. This was never truer than in television, where time is precious. Just one unprepared actor can ruin a shooting schedule.

This is why casting directors keep using some performers over and over again. They know what they can expect from them, whereas it would be a gamble to give a role to an actor whose work they don't know. Consider this a bid for the establishment of a national academy for actors. Many of the profession's ills can be attributed to the lack of an institution that would give neophytes the thorough training they need.

Into this academy would go the ideas and thinking of the best people in the entertainment world. The graduates would be the stars of the future.

The American theater and the public would benefit from the academy as much as the young actors and actresses who attend it. Once they master their craft, learn the value of discipline and the importance of hard work, they will be more capable of entertaining appreciative audiences.

Here in America we would have no trouble finding students for the academy. There are many young people with talent in this country. They are the hope and the future of the American theater. We just need a place where they can be trained properly.

To those young readers considering becoming a performer, I send my encouragement and best wishes. To you who think acting success comes overnight, I can only say that you have a great deal to learn.

LETTER FROM A "GROOVY" HEAD

Dear Helen: You won't print this as it is against your beliefs. (Note from H: That's exactly why I AM printing it. Argument keeps HHU perking.) I have been hung up in the drug scene for quite a while, and know for a fact that most who "smoke" or NOT selling their souls for a mess of pot. Hippies are groovy. They are not terrified of life or themselves.

I am in a college of over 5,000. I'd guess between 80 and 85 percent of the students have tried pot, and 40 percent of them are "heads." The dais, provost and chancellor know of this. Nothing is done because they don't want a scandal.

I also take pep pills. They get me through finals, and if I take two or three at once I get "high" like you've never known. At the end I have low times (this is called "crashing" by the hippies) but I've never heard of anyone continuously buying pills to avoid crashing. (Note from H: I have, many times. That's why these drugs are called "psychologically addicting.")

Pot heads and acid heads and people on pills are not criminals. None of us would commit a crime to attain drugs. (Really? Then how come my cousin's drugstore was robbed three times, and the gunmen scooped up every Benzedrine and amphetamine pill they could find?—H.)

Also these people do not progress to dope unless they're so hung with problems they'd become junkies or alcoholics anyway. No one makes a big profit on selling pot, acid or pills — it's not "crime" in the sense that somebody is getting rich over it. (That's a lot of idealistic hogwash! Somebody AL-

WAYS profits mightily from illegal sales.—H.

Marijuana is a "crime" simply because laws are poor. In my opinion it will be legalized in 15 years, and the, as with liquor, only those who become troublesome while using it will be arrested. The "educational program" in schools will be a failure, for what can be taught on the "dangers" of illegal drugs such as pot? How ridiculous to legalize liquor and make pot a crime!

Your statement that use of such drugs might eventually lead to death is the funniest thing I've ever heard. I'm sure you know better.

Note from H: (Tell this to the parents of suicide or fatal accident victims. These drugs distort time and place. They can make users feel all-powerful, so they lie down in front of moving cars or try to walk on water. Or they create violent depressions. Granted, alcohol sometimes has similar effects, but everyone agrees liquor can be dangerous. Why compound our problems by legalizing drugs, the potency, effects, and perils of which we don't even know?)

In conclusion, Helen, I don't say that everyone should "smoke." It is a groovy thing and harmless. All I ask is that people who know nothing about these "drugs on the campus" don't put us down. Granted, before I learned about grass, I figured it was associated with dope and crime. Now I know better. They're groovy.

If you DO print this, I will give you credit, even though I can imagine your reply.—A HEAD

Dear Head: If you think pot acid, and pep pills are "groovy" that's YOUR problem, not mine. But if I couldn't "turn on" to life without the use of stimulants, and if I felt I must "turn off" with drugs when the going got rough—Pd figure I had a problem that only a psychiatrist could solve.—H.

P.S. Tell me, this word you repeated three times—"groovy" what does it mean? Seems to me that's kind of a conformist word—like the high school phrase, "in crowd". . . and just as juvenile.—H.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Birth of a television series: The need arose because "Gunsmoke" was running out of power after a decade as the prime CBS outdoor drama. "Get another definitive Western," came the message from on high, meaning the network's head man, William S. Paley. The programming executives responded. Since virtually every area of Western history had been treated on television, they were at first stymied for something new. Then the idea was presented: Why not place the series in the Oklahoma Panhandle of 1886, five years before the land rush?

The time and place offered pregnant possibilities. It was a period of anarchy, when the farmers were in fierce combat with the cattle ranchers, who had leased vast acreages from the Indians. Combine that situation with a rough, tough marshal who has worked both sides of the law.

"Now you've got something going for you!" the network thinkers exulted.

But it wasn't all that easy. Next, the series had to be synthesized in all its aspects. For that chore, CBS in May of last year hired Christopher Knopf. His credentials were impressive — he had created "The Big Valley" for ABC.

A tall man with graying black hair, Knopf takes his craft seriously, has been president of the Writers Guild of America. After being told the basic ingredients as they had been developed in the CBS show, he buried himself in Oklahoma history.

In July, Knopf started work on two important documents: a 20-page presentation, outlining the era, characters and intent of the series; a 62-page pilot script.

The writer retained two of the characters that had been originally outlined. The lead was Jim Crown, played by Stuart Whitman, of whom Knopf wrote: "There is little of life that he has not seen, or dealt with. His job is impossible — so he uses impossible techniques to achieve its purpose. He does not preach, he does not philosophize, he is not a psychiatrist." The latter phrase was underlined.

Also retained was a photographer named Francis Wilde, played by Randy Boone: "Lean and lanky, he is 24, ambitious, vital, virile, anxious to get on with things and owns the tools to achieve them."

Knopf added a girl, Dulcey — Jill Townsend — born in England and reared in New England, who inherits a house of prostitution and turns it into a Wayfarer's Inn: "She is adventurous despite her innocence. She is lovely, adorable, fetching and never coy or insincere or flirtatious."

Also devised for a series regular was MacGregor, played by Percy Herbert: "He is an outrageous, irreverent Scotsman, ageless really, but full of the most incredible fantasy, bull and fantastic dreams you have ever imagined."

The pilot film was shot near Las Cruces, N.M., in December and January with a 20-day schedule and a $700,000 cost. CBS scheduled the series at 7:30-9 on Thursdays, before the network's feature movie. Thus Thursday becomes virtually a two-program evening on CBS.

"Cimarron Strip" is now in high gear, with 20 writers composing scripts under Knopf's supervision. The series has been filmed on location in New Mexico, at Sedona and Flagstaff, Ariz., and near Bishop, Calif. Such locations add to the visual aspects of the show — and to the budget. The segments have been costing $250,000, which cannot be supported by sponsor backing.

The fate of "Cimarron Strip" may well be decided during the first few weeks of the 1967-68 season, when critical reviews and audience reaction will cool or heighten sponsor support. More than a year of planning and a few million dollars could be lost if the series does not strike critics and viewers as being new and vital entertainment.

"Gunsmoke," which had been marked for execution, was saved in a last-minute shuffling of schedules and will be back on CBS at 7:30 Tuesdays. So "Cimarron Strip" will be competing not only with the 80-odd shows in prime network time, but the series which it was supposed to replace.

A person's inattention disrupts a conversation.

Treasury Era for Women Nears End

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP)—An 18-year tradition that a woman be treasurer of the United States could be ending.

It's been nine months since Mrs. Kathryn O'Hay Granahan, a former member of Congress from Philadelphia, resigned as treasurer because of ill health.

Her signature however, still appears on the lower left corner of all new paper money. It will remain there until her successor is named.

Government insiders now say the job will go not to another woman—the last four treasurers have been women—but to William T. Howell, a career Treasury Department employee who is now deputy treasurer. Howell, has been acting treasurer since Mrs. Granahan's retirement last Oct. 13.

Department officials reportedly have recommended Howell for the $25,890-a-year post.

Under present law, the treasurer is appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. But there have been rumors the post might be placed under civil service.

Several prominent women mentioned in speculation as possible treasurer have obtained other jobs. These include former Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., Miss Genevieve Blatt, former secretary of internal affairs for Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Marjorie Lawson, a former District of Columbia judge.

Atlanta Is New Threat in National

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves are off and running, making a serious, concerted bid for the top spot in the National League, and Felipe Alou says the signs are all there that they'll succeed.

Alou cracked a grand-slam homer Monday night, helping the Braves to a 6-2 decision over Pittsburgh, and then did some reminiscing.

"The only other one I hit was in 1962 in Candlestick Park when I was playing for San Francisco,"

"And we won the pennant that year."

"We had the desire then, too. This is the first time I've been with the Braves that I've seen everyone with that same desire to win."

The victory left the Braves still 4½ games back of leading St. Louis, which fought off the New York Mets 6-4 in a night game. Cincinnati topped Philadelphia 8-5 in another night game, while the Chicago Cubs called on Charlie Hartenstein to put down a ninth-inning rally and preserve a 4-3 day victory over San Francisco.

Los Angeles and Houston were not scheduled.

In the American League, Washington scored its eighth straight victory, a 4-2 decision over Cleveland, Boston crushed Detroit 7-1, Baltimore slugged New York 6-1 and California blanked Minnesota 2-0 in the only games scheduled.

Alou's grand slam was the clincher for Atlanta, which won its fourth straight and eighth in the last 10 games.

The Pirates' Bob Veale gave up a single to Joe Torre leading off the decisive sixth. Two walks and a sacrifice followed, producing one run. Veale then walked pitcher Ken Johnson intentionally to load the bases, and Alou unloaded his 10th homer of the season.

The Braves now face a 19-game stretch that could be decisive. They play their next 19 games against St. Louis, Cincinnati and Chicago, the top three teams in the league.

Mike Shannon drove in four runs on a homer, double and sacrifice fly, and Tim McCarver had four singles, lifting his average to a league-leading .355 for St. Louis, but the Cards had to fight off a bases-loaded Met threat in the ninth to preserve it.

Dale Maxvill had a homer for the Cards, who broke a three-game losing string, and Jerry Buchek had one for the Mets.

Vada Pinson's fourth hit of the game, a run-scoring double in the eighth inning, broke a 5-5 tie and pointed Cincinnati to its victory over the Phils. Moments later Tony Perez clinched it with a two-run triple. Pinson also singled three times and walked. Lee May had a solo homer for the winners.

Rich Nye, a Cub rookie left-hander, was coasting along with a five-hitter and a 4-1 lead with two out in the ninth at San Francisco. But pinch hitter Dick Groat and Jim Davenport singled and both scored on Bob Etheridge's triple. The Cubs then called on Hartenstein to get Willie McCovey on a ground out.

1st All-Star Game Held at City Park

The first annual Little League All-Star game was held at City Park Friday night, July 14, 1967, with the North playing the South.

The highlight of the game was a three-run homer by Dwayne Jackson of Wire Products. Up to this point it was a see-saw battle between the two pitchers, Dwayne Jackson and Sylvester Davis Jr.

In the first inning each team scored two runs and then settled down to play ball until the fourth inning when Jackson let down his big blast which travelled approximately 200 feet.

The crowd for this game was very good. There were approximately 150 persons attending this game.

Little League action will resume Tuesday night July 18, 1967 at 6 o'clock, with the following games to be played:

Lucy's Cafe vs. Wire Products
Young's Chevy vs. Merchants
Lloyds Gro. vs. Powell Hardee

The director would like to call your attention to the following dates August 7-August 11, which will be the play-off. It will consist of the best three out of five. August 12 is set aside to give recognition to the parents and Little Leaguers which we call the Little League Banquet.

The guest speaker for this occasion will be Charles Cough, Superintendent of Parks and Recreations.

Parents and friends don't forget these dates.

Washington Win Streak Reaches 8

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gil Hodges says he isn't superstitious but the Washington Senators' manager quickly volunteers his wife, Joan, is.

"She's been dying to come out to a ball game since we got back," Hodges said. "But she won't as long as we're winning. I hope she has to stay home the rest of the year."

Hodges grinned broadly in the dressing room Monday night after his once-listless Senators defeated hapless Cleveland 4-2 for their eighth consecutive victory, longest streak for Washington since 1949.

"My wife wanted to come out last Thursday for the double-header but she couldn't make it," Hodges said. "After we won two, she said she was going to stay away until we lost but it's killing her."

Hodges said he plans to go with the same line-up he's been using — "not because I'm superstitious but because we're winning."

Typical of Hodges, he wouldn't pinpoint any one person or thing that has caused the Senators to rise from last place, 14½ games out, to a tie with Cleveland for seventh, nine games off the pace of league-leading Chicago.

Red Sox Move Into Third Place

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The saying goes, "Youth must be served," and old-timer Carl Yastrzemski thinks it could be this year.

Not only does the 27-year-old Boston outfielder think it must be served, he has been taking steps all season to make sure it is.

In his latest step Monday night, Yastrzemski, the oldest regular in a starting line-up which averages 24 years of age, doubled, homered and drove in three runs as the Red Sox trounced Detroit 7-1 and took over sole possession of third place in the American League.

Washington won its eighth straight by beating Cleveland 4-2, Baltimore topped New York 6-1 and California blanked Minnesota 2-0 in other AL games. Chicago and Kansas City were not scheduled.

In the National League, Chicago edged San Francisco 4-3, Atlanta slugged Pittsburgh 6-2, Cincinnati outlasted Philadelphia 8-5 and St. Louis downed New York 6-4. Chicago and Houston were idle.

Youth and hot weather seem like a winning combination to Yastrzemski.

"This is the youngest team among the contenders," he said. "Even last year when he finished ninth, we played our best ball in late July and August."

In gaining their fourth straight victory and sixth in the last seven games, the Red Sox wasted little time, jumping on Detroit's Denny McLain for three runs in the first inning.

Mike Andrews, 24, scored on a double by Joe Foy, 24. Foy came in on Yastrzemski's double, and 23-year-old George Scott followed with an RBI single.

A double by Foy sandwiched between singles by Andrews and Tony Conigliaro, 22, added two more in the fifth and Yastrzemski's 22nd homer, with Foy aboard on a single, concluded the scoring in the eighth and sealed the Tigers' seventh straight loss which dropped them into fourth place.

Yastrzemski is hitting .328 with 65 RBIs. He already has six more homers and just 15 less RBIs than he did last season when he hit .278.

Consecutive run-scoring singles in the third inning sparked the Senators, who now have the longest winning streak in the expansion club's history and the longest in Washington since the 1949 coub won nine.

Mike Epstein singled home two third-inning runs and Paul Casanova brought in another.

Baltimore's Brooks Robinson stretched his hitting streak to nine games, during which went 16-35 for a .457 average, with two singles and a homer. He also scored three times in support of rookie Tom Phoebus, who limited the Yankees to four hits.

George Brunet foiled Minnesota's bid to move into a first-place tie with idle Chicago, but shutting the Twins out on four hits.

Brunet got all the offensive help it needed in the first inning when John Werhas tripled and scored on Jim Fregosi's single.

Little Bids for Junior Welter Title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A pleased and eager Freddie Little, fresh from a war in the ring, says he would like to get another fight under his belt before taking on Ki Kim Soo of Korea in September for the Junior Welterweight crown.

Little, a school teacher from Las Vegas, Nev., will face the Korean battler in Seoul.

Displaying a strong attack here Monday night, Little picked up a unanimous decision over Harold Richardson of New York in a 10-round bout.

Little was ranked as the No. 1 junior middleweight contender going into the fight—an affair which had no bearing on his Korean encounter.

Little, 155½, now has a record of 36-3, and Richardson, 160, has 21-7.

The fight opened up in the fourth with Little, a native of Piquette, Miss., homing in with several good blows.

Ford Drops LeMans Race for Domestic

By BLOYS BRITT

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Ford's decision to drop the 24-hour Le Mans from its schedule next year could mean a new shot in the arm for U.S. auto racing.

Donald Frey, a company vice president, says the Ford performance budget for 1968 will be devoted to stock and championship (Indianapolis) car racing. The company also plans to put team cars into the Sports Car Club of America's Trans-Canada Group 7 sports-racing car series for the first time, and to enlarge its participation in drag racing.

There are also reports that Ford will begin putting some money into late model sportsman and modified stock car racing, a field heretofore left to the "shade tree engineering" clan and the small tracks.

Ford, through its Holman and Moody affiliate in Charlotte, presently sponsors four factory teams on the rich NASCAR Grand National circuit, and occasionally brings in USAC stars A.J. Foyt and Mario Andretti when the big money is on the line.

Thus far this season Ford has won four of NASCAR's prestige events of 400 miles or longer — Riverside, Daytona (twice) and Atlanta. Chrysler, the other big name in stock car racing, has won three big ones — Darlington, Charlotte and Rockingham.

Ford, winner at Le Mans two years in a row, apparently was legislated out of any further action there when the Federation Internationale d'Automobile (FIA) changed the rule governing engine sizes for prototype sports cars.

Ford Mark II's and IV's which won the 24-hour grind in 1966 and 1967 used seven-liter engines, basically the 427-cubic inch power plant that is the company's mainstay in the stock car racing events. The new FIA rule limits Le Mans engines to three-liters, and Ford doesn't have a racing engine for prototypes that size. Furthermore, it doesn't plan a cash program to build one.

Plan Olympic at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (AP) — Flags of Argentina and Cuba were raised over Fort Osborne in Winnipeg Monday after the first two delegations to the fifth Pan-American Games arrived in the Canadian midwest city.

By Sunday, when the Games open, about 3,000 athletes are expected from 33 countries.

Frazier's Career at Crossroads

By TED MEIER

NEW YORK (AP) — Unbeaten Joe Frazier of Philadelphia, who has come up with a rush in the boxing world with 16 straight victories en route to what he hopes will be the world heavyweight championship faces a crossroad in his career Wednesday night.

The 23-year-old Frazier is pitted against the durable George Chuvalo, the Canadian champion from Toronto, in a 12-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

How he does against the 29-year-old veteran, who has never been knocked out or even floored, will determine the immediate future of the young Philadelphia.

If he wins he will have a strong claim to the heavyweight title recognition withdrawn from Cassius Clay. If he loses he will have to start a new climb towards the top.

Off his exciting victory over Oscar Bonavena of Argentina, in the Garden last September when he survived two knockdowns in the second round, Frazier is favored. And if he floors or knocks out the iron-jawed Canadian he will have accomplished something that even Clay failed to do.

Being the underdog doesn't bother Chuvalo, who has won 47 of his 62 fights, and hopes to gain the top rank himself by upsetting Frazier.

The 10 p.m. EDT fight will be nationally televised, outside of New York by the Garden-RKO General Sports Presentations.

Baltimore May turn to Winning

By DICK COUCH

NEW YORK (AP) — With Brooks Robinson finally on the upswing, the Baltimore Orioles may be ready to turn the corner in the American League pennant race.

Robinson, riding the crest of a two-week hot streak, drilled three hits—including his 12th homer—and scored three runs Monday night in support of rookie Tom Phoebus' four-hit pitching as the struggling world champions slugged the New York Yankees 6-1.

The Orioles' gifted third baseman has hit safely in his last nine games, boosting his average 19 points to .288.

Brooks' three hits in five trips gave him 16-for-35 during his nine-game string — a .457 clip. He has clubbed five homers and knocked in nine runs since July 8.

"I don't know why I've been going so good — and I'm glad I don't," he said. "I didn't know why I wasn't hitting earlier, either, but I just kept plugging."

The 30-year-old veteran, who hit .289 with 23 homers and 100 RBIs last season — despite a second-half slide from the .300 level — had a .249 mark and only 30 RBIs when he broke loose just before the All-Star break.

"I look at it this way — baseball is not an easy game," he said. "There are only a few fellows who make it look easy. The rest of us have our ups and downs."

"I've never gone great from start to finish — except in 1964 when I hit .317 and was the league's Most Valuable Player."

Neck Injury Real Threat to Hornung

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Paul Hornung, the Golden Boy of pro football for the last decade, may be through.

No one knows. Or at least no one is saying. But the prospects are not good.

"Hornung has a 50-50 chance to play," said Tom Fears, coach of the New Orleans Saints, the expansion team that claimed the do-everything halfback in the draft.

"I don't want to make a statement until everything is sure," said Saints owner John Mecom Jr.

Hornung wasn't saying anything.

The 31-year-old veteran, a two-time NFL Most Valuable Player for the Green Bay Packers and holder of the league scoring record, was in the Scripps Clinic in La Jolla, Calif., today undergoing a second series of tests to determine whether or not he can continue his career.

The question centers around possible nerve damage to his neck and/or left arm, arising out of a neck injury he suffered last season while scoring a touchdown against the Chicago Bears.

"My neck snapped back diving into the end zone," Hornung said. "I don't remember the guy who was defending but he fell on me and jammed my neck."

Hornung already has undergone a series of tests at the Mayo Clinic. Those results have not been disclosed, but presumably he would not be taking a second set of tests had Mayo given him a clean bill of health.

Hornung said Mecom urged further tests to get "a couple of opinions. So they thought it would be a good idea to enter Scripps."

While the Saints were holding their breath about Hornung, the New York Jets and Cleveland Browns got some good news and the Detroit Lions got some bad news as the highlights from the training camps as the major pro teams prepared to get down to heavy work.

Joe Namath, the Jets' $400,000 bonus quarterback, said his latest knee operation apparently was successful. Frank Ryan, Cleveland quarterback, who suffered a shoulder separation last year, said he was fully recovered. Defensive halfback Dick LeBeau and linebacker Wayne Walker became holdouts with Detroit.

"The knee hasn't bothered me since the operation, and it feels the best it has in two years," said Namath, who had a second operation on his balky right knee during the offseason.

"I haven't tried to run and cut yet. Not because I'm afraid to, it just hasn't been necessary."

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., the nation's highest-ranked player, defeated Bill Burns, Mequon, Wis., 6-4, 6-1 and second-seeded Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., the defending champion, breezed by Ron Goldman, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-3, 6-1.

Graebner of Beachwood, Ohio, was one of three seeded players to fall in the first day. Also losing were fifth-seeded John Pickens of Tuscaloosa, Fla., who fell before Mexico's unseeded Marcelo Lara, 6-1, 6-2, and seventh-seeded Steve Tidball, Van Nuys, Calif., a loser to Bailey Brown, Bronxville, N.Y., 6-1, 6-0.

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., the nation's highest-ranked player, defeated Bill Burns, Mequon, Wis., 6-4, 6-1 and second-seeded Cliff Richey, San Angelo, Tex., the defending champion, breezed by Ron Goldman, Chevy Chase, Md., 6-3, 6-1.

HEAVYWEIGHT ELIMINATIONS will be held during the next few months by the World Boxing Association to determine a successor to Cassius Clay, whose title was vacated by the WBA when he refused induction into the U.S. Army. Among the boxers scheduled to compete in the elimination tournament are, from left, Floyd Patterson, Ernie Terrell, Oscar Bonavena and Karl Mildenberger. Others included are Thad Spencer, Jimmy Ellis, Jerry Quarry and Leotis Martin.

Giants Defeat Yank Leaders

Last night at K Park was upset night as the Yankees went down at the hands of the Giants in Doctors' League Play, 7 to 5.

David Slison was the winning pitcher and Mark Harris was the loser. This was the first loss of the season for the Yanks.

In the other game, the Braves defeated the Red Sox 25 to 15, in a high scoring game that saw many boys on the mound for both teams.

Prison Fire Set Off by 3 Convicts

By RICHARD OPPEL
MILTON, Fla. (AP) — Convicts under shotgun guard have testified that three cellmates deliberately set the prison fire that burned 37 inmates to death.

Among those who died were the three accused of setting the blaze.

As the formal inquest into the Sunday night fire at State Prison Road Camp 12 at Jay, Fla., started in Santa Rosa County Courthouse, 22 bodies sacked in olive drab body bags lay outside the old county jail awaiting positive identification.

The coroner's inquest will decide if criminal negligence or homicide was involved in the tragedy.

On the table before County Judge Mahlon McCall Monday were the prison files of all 51 men who had been in the locked and barred barracks at Camp 12. Of the 51, eight were in the county jail unharmed, six were in hospitals with burns and 37 had perished.

The convicts testified that it was about six minutes after the fire started before guard A.O. Lovett unlocked the barred "cage door" and a solid wooden door to let them flee.

Lovett took the stand and testified that a smashing, shouting disturbance broke out first and he ran to toss the keys over a high barbed-wire fence to guard Richard E. Cobb, who used them to unlock the prison arsenal.

"We had to get longer guns," Lovett said.

When he saw the fire and returned, Lovett said, "I made four passes before I could open the door. It was so hot I had trouble seeing."

Convict Roy G. Regan, 26, said, "I heard the screaming. That's when I looked up and saw the whole wall was afire and it started to roll down the ceiling at me."

Regan and the other prisoner witnesses, some of whom came to court shirtless, others with T-shirts marked by ash and smoke, called the names of the three men who they said turned the 40-by 90-foot wooden barracks into a funeral pyre.

The trio who allegedly set the tragic blaze was identified to the coroner's jury as Joseph Earl Wynder, a Negro, and Thomas E. Ard and Earl Evans, both white men. All were from the Pensacola area.

Wynder was sentenced to prison from Calhoun County for grand larceny and burglary. Information on convictions of Ard and Evans was not immediately available.

The convict witnesses said Wynder, Ard and Evans used newspapers and toilet tissue to start their fires after a television set and fluorescent lights were smashed.

But Lovett said the resentment began when a pornographic book was confiscated from Ard.

Lovett, 49, who has been a prison guard for a year, entered the burning building and herded five frightened men outside. He was burned in the rescue but not severely.

MOSLEM SHRINE IN OLD JERUSALEM, the Dome of the Rock, attracts flocks of Arabs though Israelis now hold the city. Also known as the Mosque of Omar, the Dome is revered by Moslems as the traditional site where Mohammed ascended to heaven, according to Moslem tradition. The dome itself is one of the most ornate and beautiful buildings in the Middle East.

122 Cong Sampans Hit by Bombs

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported 122 Viet Cong sampans sunk in two helicopter attacks, at least 143 Communist soldiers killed in small firefights across South Vietnam in the past 24 hours, and Red mortar and rocket attacks on five South Vietnamese and American camps near Saigon.

The command said one flight of Firefly helicopters using searchlights and flares surprised a convoy of supply sampans at the mouth of the Truong Giang River 350 miles northeast of Saigon before dawn Monday.

Coming under heavy fire from the edge of the river, the helicopters silenced the gun bunker with rockets, then destroyed 71 of the 40-foot junks and sampans, the leader of the flight reported.

A similar helicopter strike two weeks ago surprised another convoy on the same river and sank 148 sampans.

Another U.S. Army helicopter gunship team reported it sank 51 sampans and destroyed 11 fortified positions in day-long operations about 30 miles west of Saigon Monday.

Communist gunners fired about 200 mortar and rocket rounds into five South Vietnamese and American posts between midnight and dawn today in an arc about 25 miles north-west of Saigon on a road leading to Cambodia. Simultaneously, the Viet Cong hit one of the posts—at Phuoc Hiep—with a 500-man infantry attack.

Military spokesmen said one American was killed and 15 wounded and South Vietnamese units suffered light casualties. The Viet Cong lost 11 dead in the infantry attack on the post at Phuoc Hiep, which was defended by a battalion of South Vietnamese troops supported by artillery and flareships spewing quick-firing Gatling gun shells.

The air war over North Vietnam continued unabated, and the U.S. Command reported the loss of the 611th U.S. combat plane to gunners in North Vietnam, an Air Force F105 Thunderchief which went down Monday on a raid against the rail yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi.

The Air Force said the pilot was missing. Radio Hanoi claimed two U.S. planes were downed Monday and one pilot taken prisoner. The U.S. Command reported 134 missions were flown over North Vietnam despite spotty weather that covered many target areas.

The frequently hit rail line northeast of Hanoi to Red China was hit at Kep and at Bac Le. Pilots reported many cuts in the rails but were unable to give further damage assessment because of smoke and dust.

Navy pilots from the carriers Oriskany, Constellation and Bon Homme Richard also concentrated on North Vietnam's rail lines. One flight from the Oriskany sent up a billow of flames and smoke from a fuel dump at Don Son only 13 miles northwest of Haiphong.

Four Communist MIG21s were sighted in their busiest day in more than six weeks.

Three of them attempted to disrupt the rescue of a Navy flier south of Hanoi but turned back when Crusader jets tried to tangle with them. A fourth MIG was jumped near Thanh Hoa and fled when a Skyhawk jet unleashed a long-range barrage of rockets and 20mm cannon fire.

The Navy pilot, Lt. Cmdr. D. A. Verich, 35, of Laona, Wis., had hidden overnight in mountainous country below Haiphong after being shot down Sunday. His rescue by a helicopter crew from the carrier Constellation was his second after being shot down over North Vietnam in a year.

Rail Crisis Spelled End Buckpassing

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional enactment of legislation in the railroad shopcraft dispute ended more than three months of buckpassing between Congress and President Johnson.

The President and many members of Congress, especially in the House, tried as hard as possible to avoid having to take the final action to put union men back to work under a compulsory settlement.

Whether called compulsory arbitration or not—and the administration doggedly insisted it was proposing mediation to finality—the central feature of the rail legislation finally enacted is something labor fiercely opposes.

For in being bound by a compulsory settlement, labor loses its major weapon—the strike—without gaining anything in return.

The first time Johnson sought congressional action to extend the no-strike deadline was in April and the measure sailed through both houses. The second time, in May, there was more resistance, but a new 47-day extension was approved overwhelmingly.

When the present proposal came before the Senate in June, it was passed by a large margin. But in the House, a rebellion led by pro-labor Democrats on the House Commerce Committee and Republicans seeking permanent antistrike legislation flared up and overthrew the President's proposal.

That House members should resist such legislation more than senators is not surprising.

More Iron, Less Copper for Vietnam

By BOB HORTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon wants to bombard Vietnam with more iron and less copper.

It's a matter of economics. Copper is more expensive than iron and the United States has been investing quite a lot of the metal around Southeast Asia in the form of artillery shells and small arms rounds.

Pentagon spokesmen say that in the case of larger shells—the 90mm, 105mm and 155mm—about two pounds of copper is expended per shot. Virtually all of this is in the shell's rotating band, which metallurgists believe can just as well be made of iron.

Lesser amounts of copper are used in small arms projectiles and in the internal works of artillery shells.

According to the Pentagon, U.S. forces in Vietnam fired roughly 15 million rounds of 90mm, and 155mm artillery shells between January 1966 and last May.

At two pounds of copper per shell, this indicates the United States shot off roughly 30 million pounds of copper in an 18-month period.

Pentagon spokesmen say defense supplies currently pay about 38 cents per pound for copper either from government stockpiles or from domestic producers. This is two cents higher than last year's price.

Just by saving that two cents per pound through iron substitution the Pentagon could, at current consumption rates, save $32,000 a month or $384,000 a year. Actual cost figures for the iron still are indefinite.

Reduction of copper in war consumables also would help ease the drain on government-owned copper stockpiles.

The General Services Administration says there is no shortage of copper. But its figures show a severe decline in copper stockpiles the past two years.

Horse-Jumpers Go to Olympic

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Bert Rose, former general manager of the Minnesota Vikings, will take a similar post with the New Orleans Saints, sports editor Bob Roessler of the New Orleans Times-Picayune wrote in his column today.

Rose is now an assistant to Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League.

Only one-third of the senators must stand for re-election in 1968, while all House members must. For many urban Democrats, labor is the key both to financing and supplying campaign workers.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, contended the President's bill was one-sided and unfair. He said that in any case there was no proof a railroad strike would create chaos as the administration claimed.

But all efforts by Staggers and fellow Commerce Committee Democrats to force the administration into making plans to move essential supplies in event of a strike met the response that this was impractical.

The dispute could find its way back to Congress in 1969. Meanwhile, several other disputes in the rail industry also could be thrust into the hands of congressmen who dislike having to deal with such disputes but apparently prefer temporary solutions to any permanent anti-strike legislation.

12 Carolina Men Held on Conspiracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI says it arrested 12 North Carolina men today who it alleged conspired to prevent racial integration of schools in two counties by shooting into houses, dynamiting business places and other acts of terrorism.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said the men were formally charged in warrants issued by the U.S. District Court in Greensboro, N.C., with conspiring to deprive citizens of constitutional rights "by acts of terrorism and intimidation."

The warrants said the conspiracy was aimed at preventing school officials from operating schools in Rowan and Cabarrus counties "in a racially free manner."

It said the men also tried to prevent racially integrated participation in federal antipoverty and education programs.

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury in Greensboro July 14, said the conspiracy included burning churches, residences and property used for federally assisted programs, making threatening telephone calls and burning crosses.

The indictment covered a period from November 1965 until the present, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said.

The FBI identified those arrested as: Homer D. Blackwell, 50, Concord; Winfred Edward Bridges, 28, Charlotte; James Wayne Davis, 41, China Grove; Marx Wayne Dayvault, 27, Kannapolis; Robert Philmore Hill, 31, Concord;

Dallas Win Knocks L.R. Out of 3rd

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Dallas-Fort Worth, which has spent most of the season in the Texas League cellar, tripped Arkansas 5-1 Monday night and knocked the Travelers out of the third-place position they had regained Sunday.

Jim Barfield smashed a two-run homer to give the Spurs a 3-1 lead in the sixth and singled across another tally during a two-run eighth inning. The homer, Barfield's third of the season, came off loser Danny Jaster.

Sharp relief by former major-leaguer Don Larsen saved the victory for John Hermanek, now 5-6.

Larsen took over with runners at second and third in the eighth and retired the next three Travelers without permitting a run.

In other Texas League action, Albuquerque socked first-place Amarillo 8-5, and El Paso shut out Austin 6-0.

WR to Name Referee for G&F Probe

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller said Monday that he would appoint his own referee to hear the misconduct charges he wants to bring in a hearing designed to oust some members of the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.

The governor said in a news conference that he had no idea when the hearing might get underway, but that he began seeking the proper person to serve as referee as of Monday.

G. Thomas Elsele, the governor's legal aide, said there probably would be an attempt soon to determine whether Rockefeller legally can appoint anyone other than himself to hear the charges.

Rockefeller had asked the Arkansas Bar Association to recommend three names to him, but its executive committee advised him last week that he should seek a legal determination of whether Amendment 35, which provides for hearings at which charges may be brought against Game and Fish Commissioners, has provisions for a referee.

The state Judicial Council had refused earlier to provide names of qualified persons.

"I don't think there was any intent here to not cooperate," the governor told reporters. "I'm not being critical, but I am truly disappointed."

Rockefeller reiterated that he did not want to sit as judge and jury in the case since he was bringing the charges. He said this was why he had asked for outside help in naming a referee.

"I have attempted to follow a procedure which I think is correct," he said. "That is what has slowed us down."

The governor has declined to name the commissioners involved, or to reveal the charges he wants to bring against them. He has hinted, however, that it deals with the misuse of department personnel.

Asked if he considered the misuse flagrant, he said, "I think it depends on your definition of flagrant."

It was a violation of trust, he said, whether large or small.

Rockefeller said evidence presented at the hearing would be turned over to the Attorney General's office, which would be responsible for taking legal action if it were required.

Rockefeller also said that Clarence "Mike" Frost, assistant comptroller for a Detroit bank, still had not given him a decision on whether he would accept the job the governor has offered him as head of the new state Administration Department.

He said that Frost was in Little Rock Friday and Saturday, and that he appeared to be more concerned about the city's educational facilities than he was about the possibility that an Arkansas residency requirement might bar him from the job.

Frost is the father of five children

Keller No. 2 in State's Episcopal

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) - The Very Rev. Christopher Keller Jr., 51, dean of St. Andrews Cathedral here, announced Sunday that he had accepted election as Bishop Coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of Arkansas. Dean Keller, elected to the church's second-highest post in Arkansas at a special meeting of the Diocesan Convention in Little Rock, said he would assume his new duties about Oct. 1. He will assist and share jurisdiction with the Rt. Rev. Robert R. Brown, Bishop of Arkansas. Dean Keller, who served as rector of St. John's Church in Harrison, Ark., before coming here in 1962, will be consecrated as a bishop Oct. 17, if his election is approved by the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies at the church's General Convention Sept. 17 at Seattle, Wash. Dean Keller is the son of an Episcopal priest. He established a successful business career before joining the ministry and at one time was president of an El Dorado, Ark., oil company. He is married and the father of six children.

RESUMPTION

Missouri system.

A union spokesman in North Little Rock said Monday night, however, that there had been no picketing at Cotton Belt facilities in North Little Rock.

Union officials employed by Missouri Pacific and Rock Island, meeting in hastily called strategy sessions, were unavailable for comment.

Nesbitt said that 3,900 union members walked off their jobs with the Cotton Belt at 2 p.m. Monday in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Missouri and Illinois. He said he didn't know how many persons were involved in Arkansas.

Nesbitt said Cotton Belt freight trains on route at 2 p.m. Monday in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Missouri and Illinois. He said he didn't know how many persons were involved in Arkansas.

Before the president signed the bill to end the strike, a Rock Island spokesman said all 11 of the line's Arkansas freight trains had been stopped, as well as its two passenger trains.

Its regular through freights were running, manned by supervisory personnel, but all passenger service had been halted.

The strike apparently was having little effect on most of Arkansas' industry.

Spokesmen for several large firms in the southern portion of the state said Monday that it would not affect production to any great extent for about a week.

The strike began at midnight Sunday in most areas.

Don Kayser, assistant manager of the Crossett Division of the Georgia-Pacific Corp., said operations at his plant were continuing and that finished goods were being stored.

"But if the strike lasted until Saturday, we would have a critical problem, and we would have to consider the possibility of curtailing our operations," he said.

Georgia-Pacific also has a plant at Fordyce, which is served by the Cotton Belt.

A spokesman for the Lion Oil Refinery at El Dorado said his firm couldn't get cars in or out of the refinery, but that there were no plans yet for a shut-down.

An American Oil Refinery spokesman at El Dorado said his company used trucks and pipelines for transportation and therefore was unaffected by the strike.

The Monsanto Chemical plant in El Dorado is making use of truck lines for its shipping, but could be forced to curtail its operations within a week or 10 days, a spokesman said. The only immediate effect was a delay in deliveries, he said.

Mail that normally is shipped by train apparently was being airlifted out of the state Monday, or was being sent by truck.

Postmaster Roy L. Sharpe of Little Rock said Arkansas had an excellent system of truck mail routes and highway post-offices, and that the strike had little effect on transportation of mail within the state.

The Little Rock postoffice contracted for additional trucks Sunday and Monday to handle mail bound out of state or coming into Arkansas from other states, he said.

First class mail stranded at Little Rock Sunday morning when five Missouri Pacific passenger trains ended their runs at Little Rock instead of continuing on to St. Louis or points in Texas was airlifted to Dallas, St. Louis and Kansas City, Sharpe said.

He said the Dallas postoffice was sending trucks to pick up six railroad carloads of Texas-bound parcel post and circular mail stranded at the Missouri Pacific Depot Monday afternoon, and that it all should be moved out by nightfall.

Sharpe said postoffices throughout the nation were refusing Monday to accept any parcels or second and third class mail that would have to be shipped more than 150 miles.

He said first class mail and air mail was being accepted regardless of the destination.

Prisoner Pays Off His Debt

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — The district attorney of Klamath County, Ore., has received $365 from a prisoner in the Federal Correction Institution in Lompoc, Calif.

Dist. Atty. Sam A. McKeen turned around and dismissed charges of passing bad checks against Dennis Ray Anthony as he had promised to do if the checks were made good.

McKeen said Anthony began coaching baseball games outside the prison to earn the money for dismissal of the Oregon charges. He averaged about $18 a week, McKeen said.

Anti-Israeli Action by UN Unlikely Now

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Prospects faded today for adoption by the U.N. General Assembly of a resolution calling for Israeli troops to withdraw from Arab territory seized in the June war.

Syrian Ambassador George J. Tomeh told the assembly's special session on the Middle East that all the Arab states maintain their refusal to recognize the state of Israel.

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied this "strengthens my government's resolve not to respond to any request or interest from these states until or unless there is an explicit recognition of Israel's statehood, sovereignty and territorial rights."

The Latin-American group of 23 nations adopted a passive attitude toward its negotiations with the Soviet Union for a resolution on Israeli withdrawal that could get the two-thirds vote necessary for approval.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan told the assembly if no agreement was reached by then, it should end the special session. There was no objection, and it appeared that the issues left unsettled would be returned to the Security Council.

As the vanguard of the 33-man U.N. observer team began surveillance of the Suez Canal cease-fire line between Israeli and Egyptian forces, an Israeli-Egyptian dispute over Israel's intention to put patrol boats on the canal threatened the operation.

Israel claimed it had the right to patrol the waters on the eastern side of the canal. Egypt warned that it would open fire on any boats the Israelis launched. Egyptian Ambassador Mohamed Awad El Kony told Secretary-General U Thant by letter Israel had placed nine boats on the east shore of the Bitter Lakes, which form part of the southern half of the canal.

Reports in Vienna said Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin had urged the leaders of the other European Soviet bloc companies at their meeting last week to contribute more to the aid of the war-battered Arab economies but the smaller Communist governments were unenthusiastic.

Israel exchanged 361 Syrian soldiers and 230 Syrian civilians for an Israeli pilot captured by the Syrians during the war, the bodies of two other Israeli pilots shot down June 5, an 18-year-old Israeli civilian who disappeared on a flower-collecting tour last September, and an Israeli Arab who said he was kidnapped from his home in Nazareth almost seven years ago.

Handling of Prisoners Is Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has asked the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong to permit neutral inspection of their prisoners of war.

Voicing concern over the treatment of some 180 captured U.S. soldiers and civilians, the White House said claims "of the National Liberation Front and the North Vietnamese that they are treated humanely" cannot be verified because neutral observers have not been allowed to visit the prisoners.

The statement Monday said more than 20 Americans are believed held prisoner by the Viet Cong, or National Liberation Front. More than 160 U.S. servicemen, mostly airmen, are known to be imprisoned in North Vietnam.

The White House also urged return of sick and wounded prisoners under terms of the Geneva Convention on prisoners of war.

The statement suggested that the International Committee of the Red Cross, which it said respects prisoners taken by U.S. or South Vietnamese forces, should be allowed to visit captured American personnel.

Meanwhile eight House Republicans, who last week urged a step by step de-escalation of the Vietnam war, said, "We are not yet convinced that Hanoi has no interest in peace."

"But we are convinced," Rep. F. Bradford Morse, R-Mass., told the House, "that the possibility has not been tested by creative and sensitive U.S. diplomacy."

Their proposal calls for stopping all bombing north of the 21st Parallel for 60 days. If Hanoi responded with a similar de-escalation, bombing then would be stopped north of the 20th Parallel and so on through five steps.

Rioting in Newark Is Resumed

By ARTHUR EVERETT
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Racial calm in riot-plagued Newark was broken early today when a Negro looter was shot to death in a gun duel with police and a patrolman was wounded in another nearby incident.

Earlier a taxicab rider died of injuries suffered in a Jersey City fire bombing. The fatalities stemming from Negro rioting in New Jersey now stands at 277.

As Newark was trying to recover from five days and nights of wild tumult that accounted for 25 of the dead, a racial armistice was being tested in nearby Plainfield where 12 Negro prisoners were released today in their own recognition.

Elsewhere in northern New Jersey, restless troublemakers provided an uneasy Monday night for the communities of Elizabeth, Paterson, New Brunswick and Jersey City.

The alleged looter was identified as Raymond Gilmer, 20, of Newark, who fled in a car after being spotted standing in front of a wrecked store in the Negro area.

After a high-speed chase during which shots were exchanged, Gilmer leaped from his car and ran down an alley and fired at four pursuing policemen. They returned the fire and Gilmer was shot in the head. Police said they found a pistol, knife and a pair of binoculars on his body.

A short time later, patrolman John Romano was wounded in an exchange of gunfire with several Negro occupants of a car which tried to run him down.

The Jersey City victim was Freddie Lee Jones, 24, a Negro. Police said he was riding in a cab last Saturday night when a fire bomb was thrown against the vehicle. He died Monday night of burns. A woman passenger and the driver were injured. The bomber escaped, his race and identity unknown.

Looting and window smashing in Jersey City led to the arrest of 34 Negro youths during the night. Jersey City, Elizabeth and Paterson were the scenes of rioting in 1964.

Newark's business life was on its way back to normal. Some 5,000 New Jersey National Guardsmen were withdrawn Monday, and control of the city restored to the 1,400-man police force.

Plainfield, a city of 50,000 about 18 miles southwest of Newark, underwent a fourth night of disorder Monday, but milder than earlier outbreaks which had claimed the life of a white policeman.

State Atty. Gen. Arthur J. Sills said a truce plan was worked out during a three-hour night meeting with militant young Negroes, including one described as a "Black Muslim emissary."

duty to obey," the court said. This ruling now is being appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court by the American Civil Liberties Union. The ACLU is may be the individual cannot be permitted upon religious grounds to be the judge of his asking the court to strike down the law as in violation of constitutional religious freedom.

"For appellant and his fellow Amish, the education of their children in accordance with Amish religious principles is not just a matter of choice, or preference," the ACLU said Monday.

"It is an essential postulate of their religious faith," The Amish, descended from a 16th century Mennonite movement in Switzerland, live in at least 19 states and Canada. They wear plain, dark clothing and have maintained literally a horse-and-buggy society since colonial days.

In 1965, Kansas enacted a law requiring children to attend a public, private or parochial school "taught by a competent instructor" until age 16. Before then school attendance was not required beyond the eighth grade.

The Amish community in Yoder responded by setting up its own vocational school and Sharon Garber was enrolled.

Guardsmen and the city's 83-man police force were withdrawn outside a 24-block perimeter around the racially tense Negro West End to let members of the Negro community establish their own peace-keeping effort.

One complaint of West End negotiators was that whites were riding through the neighborhood taunting Negroes. About 35 per cent of Plainfield's residents are Negro.

Sills said he found no evidence that Plainfield's disorders were abetted by Newark rioters.

North of Newark, in Paterson, fires apparently set by arsonists flared in vacant buildings and a fire bomb was thrown at a drug store. Rocks were thrown through store windows in Elizabeth and a police car was stoned.

Bands of young Negroes smashed and looted downtown stores in New Brunswick, six miles from Plainfield, despite a midnight curfew established earlier Monday. There were a number of false alarms. Seven Negroes were arrested, two of them said to be carrying guns.

In Newark, with a population of 400,000 about half of which are Negroes, the property damage from the ugly rampage that engulfed a third of the city was estimated at $15 million by P. Bernard Nortman, city economic development director.

The Newark rioting began the night of July 12 after a Negro taxicab driver was arrested for a traffic violation. He was released without bond to his attorney, accused of assaulting the arresting police officers.

Efficiency Commission Is Set Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Thirty of Arkansas' top businessmen assembled Monday to organize the state Governmental Efficiency Commission and drew a pledge of support from Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

Rockefeller told the members of the group that the work of the commission could be "far reaching and long lasting" if they brought their own "modern and efficient business practices" into state government and that it could produce dramatic results.

Leroy Beasley, 55, of El Dorado, was elected chairman, and William F. Rector, 50, of Little Rock was elected Vice Chairman. The secretary will be elected later.

W.R. "Whit" Stephens, Chairman of the board of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., Jack Pickens of Picken-Bond Construction Co., and Rector declined the nomination for chairman before Beasley, treasurer for Murphy Oil Corp., was elected.

Beasley and Rector immediately named a special executive committee that included Stephens, Pickens, Thomas Stone of Hot Springs, and Reeves Ritchey and Warren Bray, both of Little Rock, to interview consultants to advise the commission.

The commission, which has a $15,000 budget, has until Jan. 1, 1968, to come up with recommendations on where and how the state can save money. The commission is expected to help find volunteers and money to do the day-to-day work.

Rockefeller told the commission that the concept of the commission was that "through your prestige and influence, you can obtain from the industry of our state technically qualified people . . . to carry on the actual work of the commission."

The governor said that in other states where reorganization of state government was studied by similar commissions, industry was asked to provide "loan executives" to the commission for full-time 90-day periods of work.

The Union Carbide Corp., of near Hot Springs indicated in informal talks that it would lend the state some of its executives to work with the commission, Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller said he would call a special session of the legislature for a good work session after the commission had completed the study.

Piggish Pelican

In proportion to its weight, the pelican is the champion eater of the animal world. A pelican weighing only 18 pounds consumes four pounds of food per day, or 222 pounds of food per year.

Pigs, on the other hand, consume only about 40 pounds of food per 1,000 pounds of weight.

SHOP UNIONS

said unions and management were further apart in contract negotiations than they had been in 25 years, and further talks are not rescheduled until later in the week.

Some 37,000 members of the United Steel Workers of America have struck the Kennecott, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge and American Smelting and Refining companies. Those firms produce about 90 per cent of the nation's copper.

Two members of the rubber industry, crippled by the longest strike in its history, made tentative agreements with the union.

B.F. Goodrich reached a tentative agreement with the rubber workers Saturday, and maintenance workers were preparing the company's nine plants in eight states for a quick start when the 87-day-old strike is settled.

The pact must be ratified by 12,000 Goodrich Rubber workers.

Another tentative agreement was reached last Thursday with General Tire & Rubber Co., which was struck June 22. The pact would affect the company's 1,250 workers in Waco, Tex., and 1,800 in Akron, Ohio.

The two agreements call for an hourly pay increase of 43 cents over a three-year period. The present hourly pay is $3.88, a union spokesman said.

That left agreements still to be reached with three other members of the big five-Goodyear, Uniroyal and Firestone who together employ 60,000 striking workers.

Anti-Riot Action Paced by Rail Law

By Jack Bell
WASHINGTON (AP) — Having demonstrated in the rail strike that there is nothing like a crisis to spur it to action, Congress seems to be getting ready to deal in a limited way with racial rioting.

A union walkout after weeks of congressional haggling got the House and Senate off dead center in the rail controversy.

Similarly, racial rioting in Newark and Plainfield, N.J., may contribute to overriding objections to a House bill outlawing travel and use of interstate facilities with the intent of inciting violence.

The measure comes before the House Wednesday, with passage expected. Senators who oppose restricting travels of civil rights leaders had hoped to delay the bill until autumn cools the sweltering cities' demonstrations.

But Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, a key man in such matters, says he thinks the New Jersey rioting will speed consideration of the House measure by the Senate Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member.

Dirksen characterized the New Jersey outbreaks as "anarchy with a capital A," adding: "I think the patience of both the country and the Congress is running out now."

Just how much effect the House anti-riot bill would have on future big city disturbances is in doubt. Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey called the Newark riot a case of "criminal insurrection." But he discounted the role of outside agitators who might be reached by the proposed new legislation.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, disagreeing that it was an insurrection, said the Justice Department had found no evidence indicating the Newark riot resulted from an interstate conspiracy.

ARKANSAS — Partly cloudy to occasionally cloudy and warm through Wednesday. Chance of showers mainly west tonight and in west half Wednesday. Low tonight in upper 60s to 60s. High Wednesday mostly in 80s.

LOUISIANA — Partly cloudy and warm through Wednesday with widely scattered mainly afternoon thundershowers. Low tonight 68-75, High Wednesday 88-94.

Arkansas Weather
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Temperatures became moderate yesterday over Arkansas, but early morning reports today showed that record-breaking low readings were still present.

Fort Smith set a record low for July with 63, and Little Rock tied its record low for this date with 62 degrees.

Maximum temperatures yesterday over the state were in the 80s with El Dorado reporting 86. Some stations were expected to reach near the 90-degree mark today as the warming trend continued.

Even with the warming trend in progress, the mercury is expected to be below seasonal levels for several more days.

There should be at least one more day of dry weather before rainfall activity breaks out in eastern sections of the state.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Partner Gets Chance to Err

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A good bridge player knows when it is imperative that he shift to a new suit. An expert goes one step further and selects the right card.

West made his normal lead of the fourth best heart against South's three no trump contract. East played the jack and South won with the king. Most players false card suits automatically with the ace but this play is not likely to fool a defender. The simple play of the king may.

You can see that South can run eight tricks but needs nine. South was well-aware of this one trick shortage and decided to go right after a club trick. Therefore he led the three of clubs toward dummy at trick two.

West was also able to count to eight. He was certain that those six diamonds were all tricks and he knew about the ace and king of hearts. West could duck and play to stop overtricks but West wanted to beat the contract and the only future for his side was in the spade suit.

He rose with his ace of clubs and led the seven of spades. The nine was played from dummy and East won the trick with his ace. Then it was East's turn to think. The seven of spades looked like the top of a doubleton. In that case West had probably led the spade to get East to return a heart. South would have held a good 16-point no-trump with the kings of spades and hearts, the ace-queen of diamonds and king-jack of clubs. So East led back a heart and South ran off with the rest of the tricks.

If West had been a great expert he would have remembered that any time you give your partner a chance to go wrong he may go wrong. Then he would have realized that the lead of the king of spades would be foolproof and West would have led it.

Managing Editor Paul H. Jones started his vacation yesterday and your editor is stuck with the news desk for the next two weeks.

It was on the exciting side Monday—a blizzard of wire stories on the national railroad strike, and a jumble of news pictures, all headed for the same place... Page One.

The zero hour on an evening newspaper is about 11 a.m.—10 p.m. on a morning paper. Before that everything is chaotic, and to an outsider it would seem impossible to get organized. But at that magic hour the stories are sorted out and suddenly the front page comes to life—and you go to press in a few hours.

And so with the nation. Yesterday we had national confusion over the rail strike. Today it is settled.

Newspaper subscribers living at a great distance will find mail delivery interrupted, but they should have all their copies in a day or two, now that the strike has ended.

We were under Post Office orders yesterday to hold in our mail room everything consigned beyond Zones One and Two until the mails are able to absorb this second class matter. Everything in Arkansas went out as usual, but we still have the Texas and California papers.

Eventually all of them will be mailed, but the time is subject to transport conditions.

Sen. Long of Iowa Faces Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward V. Long faced the Senate ethics committee on charges he misused a wiretapping probe in a bid to help Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

After a three-hour closed session Monday, Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said the ethics panel hasn't formed any conclusions. He indicated another interview was in the offing, but mentioned no date.

Long, a Missouri Democrat, said he volunteered to appear before the bipartisan committee and planned to answer the charges against him—leveled by Life magazine in its May 26 issue—"at the first opportunity."

Life said Long used his subcommittee's investigation in an attempt to keep Hoffa out of jail and later to try to reverse the union leader's conviction. Hoffa, convicted of jury tampering, based his appeal on grounds that evidence against him was obtained through illegal wiretapping.

Congo Begins Track-Down of Rebels

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN
KINSHASA, the Congo (AP) — The Congo's government made preparations today to hunt down its mutinous white mercenaries with paratroopers aided by foreign African pilots and U.S. Air Force transports.

Reliable sources said 150 Congolese paratroopers trained by Israel were flown in American C130s to Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, the northeastern city from which the mercenaries and rebellious Katangan troops fled July 13.

The sources said Ghana has sent three pilots to fly the Congo's T28 propeller-driven fighters.

2 Die in Crash at Mountainburg

MOUNTAINBURG, ARK. (AP) — Two cars collided head-on Monday on Arkansas 71, about seven miles north of here, killing Mrs. Iva Lee McCabe, 42, of Fayetteville, and C. P. Acord, 84, of Coal Hill (Johnson County).

Critically injured in the crash were her husband Jerry D. McCabe, 45, of Fayetteville, driver of the car in which the two persons died, and Ray Adams, 36, of Mountainburg (Crawford County), who was alone in his vehicle.

New School Issue Rises in Kansas

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — An Amish farmer's clash with Kansas school authorities may draw the Supreme Court into a new evaluation of the rights of religious minorities.

The farmer, LeRoy Garber of Yoder, was convicted under the state's compulsory school attendance law for refusing to enroll his daughter, Sharon, in an accredited high school.

Garber is a member of the Old Order Amish Mennonite Church, which subscribes literally to the New Testament injunction: "Be not conformed to this world."

He says he wanted to shield Sharon from the "environment of the public high school and some of the foolishness that is going on there."

However, the Kansas Supreme Court, in upholding his conviction last November, ruled the state school law was enacted in the public interest.

"No matter how sincere he

Paul Jones New Voice on Horizon of Song; Boyle Meets Briton

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Jones, a fresh voice from Britain, is a young man you may be hearing a great deal more of from now on.

He is one of the top pop singers of Blimeyland, and has just made his first film, "Privilege." It is a bitter comedy about a youthful international entertainer who whose managers try to change him from a symbol of rebellious youth into an evangelical crusader.

Jones, who is six feet tall, fair-haired, and green-eyed, doesn't fit into any convenient pigeonhole. He isn't that common a bird.

He wears his hair down to the nape of his neck and likes to go around in orange corduroys. But, at 25, he feels he belongs neither to the beat nor the hippie generation.

Once he described himself as an "upper class Bohemian," but now says that was merely a flippant remark.

"Bohemian is such an old-fashioned word. I've always been middle class. Imagewise, I certainly am not the beatnik type. I suppose I'm the British boy-next-door type — incredibly square, and with a social conscience."

"Soul is a very important thing to me. That's why I like Negro blues — it's loud and full of soul."

"To me soul is not just a spiritual quality. It is the ability to combine the spiritual and the earthly, and most of Western society seems unable to do that."

The harmonica-playing singer is the son of a retired English naval captain. Expecting to become an English teacher, he spent a year at Oxford University before deciding to make a career in music.

Before his voice caught the public ear — he's popular on the Continent as well as in his homeland — Jones worked as a railway porter, boat attendant, day laborer and department store salesman.

Now he lives with his wife Sheila and two children in a prosaic London home far from Bohemian Chelsea.

"Sometimes fans bunch outside the house," he remarked. "They stand quietly there and look through the windows and watch us eat. It makes us feel like animals in a zoo."

Money, he says, means very little to him except that it enables him to pursue his hobby of collecting antiques. But fame means much to him.

"I have a quirk for that," he admitted.

Critical of beatniks and hippies because of their passivity, Jones aligns himself with those members of the young generation who want to be more active in changing the status quo.

"I view this hippie thing with an enormous amount of sympathy," he remarked. "But I worry about their tendency to drop out of life."

"I believe in individual responsibility — that it is up to every individual to raise the quality of his life and the best thing you can do to make a better and more peaceful world, then do it."

Realty Board Backs City's Paving Plan

The Hope Board of Realtors today became the third organized group to endorse the city's proposed $765,000 street improvement program which involves a bond issue to be voted on in September.

Previously, Hope Chamber of Commerce and Hope Rotary club had endorsed the program.

Meeting for an early morning breakfast at Diamond Cafe, the Realtor group heard talks by Leonard Ellis and Donal Parker, city directors, who outlined the program in detail and then answered questions from the floor.

"Hope's most needed civic improvement is an adequate system of paved streets to replace some of the 40-year-old worn out and patched up pavement that has long served its need," declared Mr. Ellis in his opening remarks.

"Reduced to plain and simple language, the main issue is this: Do we want a progressive city, or do we want to remain in the rut with our much under par streets? The city-wide election in September will settle the issue and the results of that election will affect Hope for years to come," Mr. Ellis pointed out.

Mr. Parker then addressed the group and explained the eight proposed artery streets that criss-cross the city from north, south, east and west.

"This is a community-wide project in which our whole town will benefit and the cost will be pro-rated among all property owners in accordance with the proposed five-mill property tax," said Mr. Parker.

"There is a plus-factor in this street improvement program, which not only will provide new streets, curb and gutter, but will also include new storm sewers that will alleviate if not solve the water problem and flooded streets during rainstorms," Mr. Parker went on to point out.

Mr. Parker and Mr. Ellis further explained the program, and then Charles R. Wilburn, president of the Realtor group, called for a vote which was unanimous in favor of the program.

Injection Course at Tech School

An aide to Congressman John Paul Hammerschmidt will visit three counties in the southern part of the Third Congressional District next week in an effort to bring the congressman's office closer to the people.

The visits by Archie Lantz of Clarksville, Hammerschmidt's field representative will be in Ashdown, Wednesday, July 26; Hope, July 27; and Murfreesboro, July 28.

The office for the day in Ashdown and in Murfreesboro, will be in the court room. The office in Hope will be in the Social Security office room on the second floor of the post office building.

The hours for each visit will be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Congressman Hammerschmidt said he felt there are many in the district who have problems and views they would like to call to his attention, and the visits by his district aide is an effort to give these persons the opportunity to express them to his office.

Widow Is to Succeed Clerk

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Alice Taylor of Jonesboro, widow of Craighead County Circuit Clerk Searcy Taylor, was appointed by Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller Monday to fill out the unexpired term of her husband.

Mrs. Taylor, who has been deputy circuit clerk for the past 12 years, took her oath of office Monday morning from County Judge Bill R. Clark.

Mrs. Taylor will serve until Jan. 1, 1969. She cannot succeed herself in office.

Taylor died Saturday.

Order by Congress Ends Rail Strike; Trains Move Today

Shop Unions Bow to U.S. Authority

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The leaders of six train shop unions, spurred by federal legislation, ordered their members back to work early today ending a paralysis of the nation's railroads.

Meanwhile, strikes in copper, rubber and other fields kept more than 100,000 workers idle.

Rail centers reported picket lines were removed and union members were complying with the emergency law signed by the President to end the first nationwide rail workers' walk-out in 20 years.

The Southern Railway reported some persistence in the picketing and an official said the line obtained a court order from a federal judge in Chattanooga, Tenn., enjoining a continuance of the strike.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz spoke with representatives of the Machinists' Union and five other shopcraft associations. A union negotiator said that Wirtz was told the unions ordered their workers to comply with the law.

The law ordered an immediate return to work by the strikers, the appointment of a five-man presidential board to try to win voluntary settlement, and a binding settlement effective within 90 days if the voluntary efforts fail.

A special summer service school was held last week at Red River Vocational Technical School for McCormick Farm Equipment dealers, according to J.W. Rowe, director. The Diesel mechanic students attended and saw demonstrations of farm tractor overhaul and installation of pistons and sleeves. This is the second school that Red River has held set up for this company.

More on Hope's proposed street program: "Will everybody's property within the city limits be subject to the city's proposed five-mill paving tax project, or just these on the eight streets designated as 'arteries'?" signed Helen, Dear Helen: The proposed five-mill property tax would cover all property in the city limits. This is a community-wide cooperative effort with everybody sharing the cost of a much needed improvement. City directors and the planning board thought this the best plan, .. since everybody will be riding on the eight artery streets ... and everybody sharing the cost.

What Railroad Order Provides

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the major provisions of the bill to end the nationwide rail strike signed Monday night by President Johnson:

— Orders striking members of six railroad shopcraft unions to return to work immediately.

— Requires appointment of a five-man presidential board to try to win voluntary settlement of the dispute.

— Allows a 90-day no-strike no-walkout period for the presidential board to try to get an agreement.

— Provides for the presidential board to impose a compulsory agreement if no settlement is reached in 90 days. The board's recommendations could be binding until as late as Jan. 1, 1969.

Resumption in Arkansas Is in Doubt

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The nationwide strike that idled or curtailed the operations of Arkansas' three major railroads will continue despite President Johnson's approval of congressional legislation to end it, a union official said here Monday night.

J. A. Nesbitt of Pine Bluff said shortly after Johnson signed a bill passed overwhelmingly by the House and Senate that striking members of the International Association of Machinists would continue picketing until a federal court enjoined them from it.

Nesbitt, general chairman of the IAM local here, said this was the decision of J. W. Ramsey of Chicago, general vice president of the union.

Until that decision is changed, or until there is a federal court order, other railroad unions will honor the picket lines that have halted the Arkansas operations of the Rock Island and Cotton Belt Lines and have crippled Missouri Pacific's operations in the state, Nesbitt said.

Nesbitt, who also serves as president of System Federation No. 45, an association of all Cotton Belt shop craft unions, said there were picket lines at Pine Bluff, Stuttgart, North Little Rock and Camden—all key points in the Cotton Belt's Arkansas route.

Arbitration of Issues Is Compulsory

By NEIL GILBRIDE
WASHINGTON (AP) — The first nationwide rail strike in 20 years ended and trains began moving today after a two-day tieup was broken by a federal back-to-work law.

The new law signed by President Johnson Monday night after hasty enactment by Congress requires compulsory settlement if necessary to end a long dispute over wages.

The word to stop the strike spread rapidly across the country after the President acted. Pickets began withdrawing a short time later and many of the commuter trains in big metropolitan areas resumed operations.

A few traffic snarls remained but for the most part officials reported vital materials needed in Vietnam were back on the rails and passenger trains that were halted by the strike took up their journeys where they left off Sunday.

The leaders of six striking shopcraft unions ordered members to heed the back-to-work law.

The White House said Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz conferred with leaders of all six unions and afterwards J. E. "Doc" Wolfe, chief negotiator for the railroads, said he was informed the unions ordered membership compliance with the law.

But an official of the Southern Railway said it obtained a court order today enjoining a continuance of the strike after workers set up additional picket lines.

The Southern Railway spokesman said Judge Frank W. Wilson of the U.S. District Court in Chattanooga, Tenn., issued the order and set a hearing on it for Wednesday morning. Picket lines were reported crumbling elsewhere following enactment of the measure.

Buck Goodwin Burned by 4,100-V. Line

A.B. (Buck) Goodwin, lineman for the Hope Water and Light Plant was severely injured about 11 a.m. today when he fell into a 4,160 circuit at the corner of 5th and Grady streets. He was transferred to Memorial Hospital and the extent of his injury has not yet been determined. He was badly burned on both hands, and there is possibility of further injury.

Jerry Burnett, an apprentice lineman, was on the pole with him when he got into the live wire. Jerry jerked him loose from the conductor. He fell back on Jerry, completely unconscious, and Jerry held him from falling into another 4,160 volt line that was just under them. The fire department sent their ladder truck to the scene and Fire Chief Jim Cobb removed him from the pole. Buck had regained consciousness and was able, with some help to move down the ladder. Linemen on the scene said that he had been badly burned but that he would probably recover, except for the damage caused by the burns.

Channel 3 Television will show a 30 minute color special on Southwest Arkansas Friday night, July 26, at 8:30 p.m. Among the programs' special features will be a visit with Gov. Rockefeller and a closer look at Magnolia's

The Junior Auxiliary Summer Art Classes will be held at the Youth Center instead of the First Methodist Church for this Wednesday only.

Arkansas Will Join Texas Fair

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas has agreed to participate in San Antonio's HemisFair '68, Texas Gov. John Connally announced here Monday.

Arkansas is the first state outside Texas to announce plans for a pavilion at the six-month fair, Connally said.

"Arkansas long has been a progressive leader in the field of tourism, as well as a good neighbor to Texas," the governor said. "We are happy to welcome the state to the HemisFair family."
